

Recognizing Children's Gifts (RCG) Behavioral Health Network Earns 1-Year BHCOE Accreditation Receiving National Recognition for Commitment to Quality Improvement

Midlothian, VA – BHCOE Accreditation has recognized Recognizing Children's Gifts (RCG) Behavioral Health Network with a 1-Year Accreditation, acknowledging the organization as a behavioral service provider dedicated to continuous improvement in Applied Behavior Analysis. BHCOE Accreditation recognizes behavioral health providers that excel in the areas of clinical quality, staff qualifications, and consumer satisfaction and promote systems that enhance these areas. These areas are measured via a wide-ranging audit, including interviews with agency clinical leadership, in-depth on-site observation, a detailed staff qualification review, anonymous staff satisfaction survey, and anonymous consumer satisfaction survey.

"Recognizing Children's Gifts (RCG) Behavioral Health Network places a high emphasis on quality care, as evidenced by their dedication to highly qualified staff and exemplary treatment programming and planning," said Sara Gershfeld Litvak, Founder of BHCOE. "We are excited to commend Director of Training and Professional Development Amanda Wells, as well as her fantastic team, on creating a program that is a valuable resource to the autism community."

BHCOE Accreditation is the only Applied Behavioral Analysis (ABA)-specific accreditation. It provides feedback regarding clinical best practices, staff satisfaction and turnover, and consumer protection. Acting as a third-party, the organization systematically measures and reports on existing quality criteria in the behavior analysis community using standardized methods and practices, and accredits only those service agencies that meet these standards.

"At Recognizing Children's Gifts (RCG) Behavioral Health Network, our mission is to provide top-quality behavioral services to help children reach their highest potential. We are thankful to have a team that is dedicated to meeting the unique needs of each client. We are excited to be receiving the BHCOE Accreditation because it reflects our core values of providing excellent services as well as constant growth and improvement," said Director of Training and Professional Development Amanda Wells. "We at Recognizing Children's Gifts (RCG) Behavioral Health Network look forward to continuing to provide compassionate, comprehensive behavior analysis services in the Midlothian area for years to come."

About BHCOE Accreditation

The BHCOE Accreditation is a trusted source that recognizes behavioral health organizations committed to continuous quality improvement. BHCOE offers a third-party measurement system that differentiates and provides independent feedback on clinical quality indicators. The BHCOE criterion features standards that subject-matter experts developed to measure effective applied behavior analysis services. For more information, visit <http://www.bhcoe.org/>.

About Recognizing Children's Gifts (RCG) Behavioral Health Network

Recognizing Children's Gifts (RCG) Behavioral Health Network recognizes that there is a need for assisting individuals with certain levels of development delays, differences in development and/or a diagnosed condition which are not similar to an individual his or her age. The person may be experiencing delays in development in the home setting, community, school and/or daycare settings due to problems with adaptive functioning and communication skills. We provide each client with an individualized structured plan that will provide the pathway to enhancing their development through the use of ABA techniques.
